Council Member Schellenberg:

Here are answers to your two questions

1. The cost for opening on Mondays (10am-6pm) at the Mandarin Branch (Kori Rd) and the South Mandarin Branch (San Jose Rd) is $94,644 and $94,295 respectively per year. While the Mandarin Branch has slightly higher use statistics, if only one location can add hours the Library would choose to add Mondays at the South Mandarin Branch for the following reasons:
 - Location within area
 - Age of facility with e-classroom, study rooms and other facilities
 - Friends of the Library group
 - Potential for growth

2. In order to open a library branch on Monday without adding costs, another day would need to be closed. We believe having various closed days at libraries would be more confusing to the customer than the current model of being closed on the same days.
