COMMISSION CHAIR'S MESSAGE

The Jacksonville Human Rights Commission is pleased to submit our Annual Report for Fiscal Year 2017-2018.

This report, in summary form, highlights the important work and activities the JHRC has engaged in over the last year. We seem to be living in tumultuous times where acts of intolerance and bigotry are all too frequent, making the work of this Commission all the more important.

We wish to express our gratitude to the professional staff members, who investigate and resolve the many complaints concerning violations of discrimination in the areas of employment, housing, and public accommodation per our legislative authority.

The Commission chooses to be a voice and force for positive change in Jacksonville using our time tested emphasis on open dialogue, allowing for all voices to be heard and understood. We also continue to look for new alternatives to incarceration and restorative justice initiatives. We are optimistic about the commitments from State Attorney Melissa Nelson and Sheriff Mike Williams and the early results of the Juvenile Civil Citation program. We hope this program will continue to expand.

Unfortunately, we still need to be on guard against acts of hate in our community. A planned mass shooting at the Islamic Center of Northeast Florida was thankfully prevented by law enforcement before the perpetrator could carry out his act. Other tensions have arisen within our community and "Walking While Black" became a cause of concern for us. In response, we had very productive meetings with Sheriff Williams on this issue. We were heartened to hear he had already issued some policy guidance and was providing implicit bias training for JSO officers.

The Commission recognizes that human and civil rights is fundamental to ensuring the rights of all persons. We will remain vigilant, looking for opportunities to improve the quality of life for all in our community.

On behalf of all the Commissioners, thank you for the privilege of serving Jacksonville.

Gary M Oliveras, Chair
Jacksonville Human Rights Commission

THE HISTORY & MISSION

The Jacksonville Human Rights Commission ("JHRC" or "Commission") was established in June 1998 under Chapter 60 of the Jacksonville Municipal Code. The JHRC is the successor organization to the Jacksonville Community Relations Commission and the Jacksonville Equal Opportunity Commission.

The Community Relations Commission was initially established by Ordinance GG-16 on August 8, 1967 by the former City of Jacksonville and reestablished under Chapter 60 by the Consolidated City of Jacksonville in 1968. The Community Relations Commission was established as a permanent organization within government to study the problems of human relations and to take positive action to eliminate discriminatory practices within the territorial boundaries of the City of Jacksonville.

In 1978, the Equal Opportunity Commission was established by Chapter 86 and was granted the enforcement authority for local anti-discrimination laws governing employment and housing.

The merger of these two commissions occurred to streamline the administrative support associated with staffing two organizations and to create a strong organization.

Since its inception, the JHRC has worked diligently to ensure that all residents of the Jacksonville community are treated fairly. To that end, the members of the JHRC are expected to use their collective knowledge of the needs and concerns of the community to fulfill its mission, which is to:

- Promote and encourage fair treatment and equal opportunity for all persons regardless of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, marital or familial status.
- Promote mutual understanding and respect among members of all economic, social, racial, religious and ethnic groups; and,
- Eliminate discrimination against and antagonism between religious, racial and ethnic groups.

THE COMMISSION

The Commission is an eleven member appointed body who are representative of the various social, economic, religious, cultural, ethnic and racial groups that comprise the city of Jacksonville. The members are appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by City Council and may serve two – three year terms.

Introduced by Council President Brosche and Co-Sponsored by Council Members R. Gaffney, Morgan and Newby:

RESOLUTION 2018-103-A

A RESOLUTION HONORING AND COMMENDING THE JACKSONVILLE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION ON ITS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

WHEREAS, the Jacksonville Community Relations Commission was established on August 9, 1967 to provide a permanent structure within the government to study the problems of human relations and to take positive action to eliminate discrimination practices within the territorial boundaries of the City of Jacksonville; and

WHEREAS, after 50 years of being proactive in providing service and facilitating change, the one thing that has never wavered remains the function and purpose to promote and encourage fair treatment and equal opportunity for all persons; promote mutual understanding and respect, and endeavor to eliminate discrimination against and antagonism between religious, racial and ethnic groups; and

WHEREAS, the Jacksonville Human Rights Commission (JHRC) has assisted hundreds of people to exercise their rights under the administrative enforcement process when they believed they had been victims of discrimination. The people who are covered under anti-discrimination laws has expanded beyond race, creed, color or national origin to now include sex, religion, age, familial status, marital status, persons with disabilities, and most recently, sexual orientation and gender identity. In 1996, the Fair Housing Ordinance was adopted and in 2004, an ordinance was enacted by City Council to prohibit the unlawful treatment of residents in places of public accommodation. Thus, the Commission has been instrumental in assisting over 60,000 residents and recovered monetary benefits in excess of $6 million, as well as non-monetary benefits, for those who filed complaints of alleged discrimination; and

WHEREAS, funding received from the Jessie Ball duPont Fund, allowed JHRC to implement its Study Circles Initiative, a program where citizens engage in meaningful dialogue on race and ethnic relations within small groups. This is the longest running organized program that encourages dialogue on race relations in the city. Over 6,000 people have participated since its inception. JHRC continues to train and educate businesses and housing providers on their obligations under the laws through the Brown Bag Lunch and Learn program for local employers; and

WHEREAS, JHRC continues to research issues that impact our community and inform us of barriers that exist, which prevent individuals in the community from enjoying all of the benefits. Numerous reports have been issued, including but not limited to, Barriers to Employment, the Emerging Asian and Hispanic Populations, Religious Tolerance, and the Race Relations Progress Report that was published by JCCI; and

WHEREAS, the 50 years of service in this community has been a collaborative effort with various organizations and individuals committed to eradicating disparities among our diverse populations. The City's blueprint has been fully represented, over the years, by 256 citizens appointed to serve as JHRC commissioners. The partnerships have addressed issues such as affirmative action programs, hate crimes, human trafficking, and civil citations. In addition, initiatives included the Duval County Health Department's Place Matters, Equal Employment Symposium, Fair Housing Symposium, Protecting Communities related to police community relations, Project BreakThrough, and the Civil Discourse Project; now therefore

BE IT RESOLVED by the Council of the City of Jacksonville:

The City of Jacksonville hereby congratulates the Jacksonville Human Rights Commission on 50 years of stellar service to the City of Jacksonville and Duval County residents in protecting, promoting, and respecting all human rights and fundamental freedoms. We support your continuous work and commitment to sustainable and effective action to ensure human rights and economic justice for all.

LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY

The Commission has authority for the enforcement of the following ordinance codes:

- ◆ Chapter 402 - Equal Employment: The ordinance ensures the right of equal opportunity of access to employment and the right of fair treatment by employers without discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, or marital status.
- ◆ Chapter 406 – Public Accommodations: The ordinance ensures access to public places where goods and services are sold within the City without discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, disability, marital status, or familial status.
- ◆ Chapter 408 - Fair Housing: The ordinance ensures that residents have access to and the use of housing without discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, familial status or marital status.

The Commission also has investigative responsibilities and duties under Chapter 126 – Procurement Code, Part 4. Non-discrimination Policy.

In FY 2018, the Commission was assigned the responsibility to coordinate the City's compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and to implement a complaint process. Title VI prohibits discrimination in the operation of any federally assisted program and to make every effort to assist those with limited English proficiency.

INTER-GOVERNMENT AGREEMENTS

◆ THE U.S. EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION [“EEOC”]

The Jacksonville Human Rights Commission, under its statutory mandates, has been certified as a Fair Employment Practices Agency (“FEPA”) under s.706 of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended. As a FEPA, charges of employment discrimination alleging violation of Title VII, Title I of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Pregnancy Discrimination Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, the Equal Pay Act of 1963, and the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2006 are dual-filed with EEOC’s Miami District Office. Charges may be transferred between the JHRC and the EEOC within mutually agreed upon guidelines.

◆ U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT [“HUD”]

The JHRC is a substantially equivalent agency under HUD’s Fair Housing Assistance Program (“FHAP”) which is administered by the Office of Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity. Designation as a FHAP agency allows the Commission to dual-file complaints of housing discrimination with HUD under both our local ordinance and Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 as amended by the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988.

Complaints may be transferred between the JHRC and HUD within mutually agreed upon guidelines.
